

We chose to represent the historical events as a bridge table linking dim_time and dim_year because each specific event is linked to country and a year. This approach also allows multiple events to be registered to the same year and country without duplicating records in the fact tables.